BRITAIN SPURNS RED-NAZI 'PEACE'; TURKEY DRAFTS PACT WITH ALLIES

Foes Charge Arms Bill Provides 'Credit' and Carry; British Bombers Attack Nazi Fleet at Helgoland

ANTI-REVISIONISTS RALLY IN DEFENSE OF JOHNSON ACT

Fight Against Loans to World War Defaulters Ranks Second Only to Embargo Repeal Issue.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Contending that the administration neutrality bill involved "credit and carry," not "cash and carry," opponents of the measure today made its financial section an issue second only to that of repealing the arms embargo.

The measure, finally approved by the senate foreign relations committee during the day, would permit belligerents to buy arms or other materials here on 90 days non-renewable credit, subject to the approval of the President.

90-Day Credits.

Already chafing at this provision of the legislation, the opposition considered it a challenge when Chairman Pittman, Democratic, Nevada, of the senate committee, said today that, to the extent of the 90-day credits, the bill would amend the Johnson act.

That law is a statute dear to the hearts of senators who have traditionally counselled American aloofness from the affairs of Europe. Most of them are allied with the opposition to the neutrality bill.

The Johnson act was passed in April, 1934, soon after an investigation of the defaults of several South American countries on bond issues floated here, and within a year after most European nations had stopped making payments on their World War debts.

Forbids Loans.

The law forbids any American bank, or individual to make a loan to any government which is in default on its obligations to the United States government. As applied to the present war situation, it would mean that Great Britain, France and Poland could not obtain credit here. Germany, not having had any war loan here, would be free to do so, if she could find lenders.

In permitting 90-day credits to the three Allies, the pending legislation, Pittman said, would amend the Johnson act. Senator Johnson, Republican, California, the author of that law, and a prominent member of the opposition, was quick to reply. He agreed with Pittman.

It would not only amend, but "nullify" his act, he said, and he was determined to see that the legislation was changed in that particular. He had not, he added, decided just what course he would follow.

"But I shall introduce an

Girl Pastor Gets Lesson in Politics

Soul-Saver's Tears Are Dried After Appeal to Hartsfield When Zoning Board Refuses Petition for 'Four-Square Gospel' Flock To Build Church.

By HERMAN HANCOCK.

Even the business of being a Four-Square gospel preacher and the protege of the internationally famous Aimee Semple McPherson is not of josses, Miss Ricie Ines Carter, pretty young Ozark mountain girl who came to Georgia to save sinners, was convinced yesterday.

It took a post-graduate course in politics from the lips of Mayor Hartsfield to change her tear-stained face to one of smiles, and then she placed her political pins in row again.

Miss Carter's tragedy, and that's what she said it was, occurred when she appeared before the Atlanta board of zoning appeals asking permission to abandon her tent, which she has had for about 18 months at Washington and Fair streets, and build a tabernacle on Creek street, about 50 feet north of Rawson street.

She simply stated her case, and when some opposition developed with an apartment house owner

URGE NEW ROUTES FOR NOISY TRUCKS

Is G in G-Man Music Scale? Big Mystery!

Hard-Boiled Reputation of Local Agents Menaced by Coy Epistle.

Judge Rosser Requests Police Committee Action To Relieve Atlantans.

Establishment of truck routes into and out of Atlanta was proposed at a police committee meeting which lasted until early this morning. Police Chief M. A. Hornsby will appoint a committee of five experts from the traffic bureau to determine feasibility of the suggestion.

The question was raised by Judge Luther Z. Rosser, of the municipal court, who pointed out that citizens on Ponce de Leon avenue, Peachtree and West Peachtree streets are concerned over the mass movement of trucks at night.

Committee members, headed by Councilman C. M. (Mac) Bolen, pointed out that if the vans were moved off one street, they would have to traverse other thoroughfares to the discomfort of citizens in those sections. After considerable study, however, it was decided that some route might be found, and that if the city and the federal gendarmerie, of these parts, was at stake.

A cloud, you might say, had been cast in their general direction—but there were no takers.

From New York the official publication of the Song Hit Guild, 1619 Broadway, had announced receipt of a song (words and music) from the Healey building headquarters of the Federal Bu-

U. S. Building, Loan League Elects G. W. West President

Atlanta Will Direct Administrative Affairs of 10,000 Members.

George W. West, president of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Atlanta, yesterday was elected president of the United States Building and Loan League at its 47th annual convention in Atlantic City, N. J.

As president of the league, West will direct the administrative affairs of approximately 10,000 association members with total resources in excess of $5,500,000,000.

An active worker in the building and loan field for the past 15 years, West helped organize and served as president of the Georgia Building and Loan League. When the Federal Home Loan Bank was organized, he was named a direc-

GERMAN AIRMEN CLAIM FIVE CRAFT WERE SHOT DOWN

London Reports Raiders 'Pressed Home at Low Altitude'; Four Norwegian Ships Are Sunk.

By The Associated Press.

British aviators attacked the German fleet at its formidable Helgoland base yesterday—but contradictory statements by the warring powers left the result in doubt.

The German high command declared five or six British warplanes had been shot down by German pursuit planes after six Royal Air Force warplanes unsuccessfully attempted to bomb ships at the Nazis' North Sea Island base.

Acknowledge Losses.

The British in London acknowledged in a statement that some of the attacking planes had not returned. However, they declared the attacks were "pressed home at a low altitude" despite "formidable antiaircraft fire."

At the same time, the British admiralty again insisted no British warship had been bombed or sunk in the last two days. The British last night denied the report of the German high command that a British heavy cruiser had been "successfully attacked" by German aircraft off the Scottish coast.

The sinking of three Norwegian ships raised neutral Scandinavian losses to 10 yesterday (Friday) as Germany, France and England continued a verbal warfare of conflicting claims of victory at sea.

As they slinked (or slunk, or perhaps even slunk) around the corners of buildings, dodged agilely through doorways, or vanished in thin air in their accustomed practiced manner, it was apparent at a glance that something was awry.

In a way the honor—or at least the rough-stuff reputation—of the federal gendarmerie, of these parts, was at stake.

A cloud, you might say, had been cast in their general direction—but there were no takers.

The total known losses of all nations rose to 57, having a gross tonnage of 239,625. Besides the Scandinavian, they were divided as follows: British 31, German 9, French 2, Dutch 2, Greek 1, Soviet 1 and Belgian 1.

At least 745 lives have been lost.

Their steel helmets covered by camouflage cloth and their faces covered with smiles, this detachment of British Tommies prepare to board a train for the coast and then to the war zone in France, while Britain and France scoff at Russian and German "peace" offers. This picture arrived in New York Thursday by Pan-American Clipper plane from London.

Text of Communique On Soviet-Nazi Pact

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The text of the communique by D. N. B., official German news agency, on the new Soviet-Russian-German accord, concluded at Moscow Thursday night, follows:

Discussion between Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop and Soviet Russian statesmen, the chief of the government and Foreign Commissar Molotoff and Herr Stalin, were concluded in the course of the night in the presence of Von der Schulenburg (German ambassador to Moscow).

The sinking of three Norwegian ships raised neutral Scandinavian losses to 10 yesterday (Friday) as Germany, France and England continued a verbal warfare of conflicting claims of victory at sea.

Three Ships Lost.

The Norwegian freighters Takstas (sunk yesterday) and the Jern (sunk Tuesday but reported yesterday), both loaded with wood-pulp, were torpedoed and the 2,000-ton Salas reportedly struck a mine in the North sea. No lives were lost.

Norway's casualty list thereby mounted to four ships; Finland and Sweden have lost three each.

The total known losses of all nations rose to 57, having a gross tonnage of 239,625. Besides the Scandinavian, they were divided as follows: British 31, German 9, French 2, Dutch 2, Greek 1, Soviet 1 and Belgian 1.

Bond $50,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American Bund, went to the Tombs tonight in default of an unexpected increase in his bond to $50,000. A hearing on a writ of habeas corpus to effect his release was obtained by his counsel for tomorrow morning.

Kuhn, indicted four months ago on a charge of stealing $14,548 from his own pro-Nazi organization, has been free on $5,000 cash bail. He is scheduled to go to trial next month.

Today, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office obtained from General Sessions Judge Cornelius F. Collins an increase in the bond, contending Kuhn had intended to leave this jurisdiction.

RAID NETS $3,000 IN LOTTERY SLIPS; NINE ARE SEIZED

Detectives Liquidate One Of Atlanta's Largest 'Bug' Banks; Two Men, Seven Women Arrested.

City detectives raided an apartment in the University Homes settlement yesterday afternoon and confiscated $3,000 worth of lottery tickets, liquidated one of Atlanta's largest "bug" banks and arrested nine negroes.

The raid was conducted by Detectives Henley Wilbur and H. R. McCurley who, armed with a John Doe warrant issued earlier in the day by Judge A. L. Etheridge, entered the apartment to find tallying of the day's receipts in progress.

They arrested E. H. Hodges, 42, negro, alleged president of the bank, with $472 in cash on his person, and James Frailey, 27, negro. Frailey lived at the scene of the raid, 140 John Hope drive, S. W., which is in the center of the negro Federal Housing project.

Seven negro women also were held. All were charged with disorderly conduct, lottery, under $1,000 bond. Trial will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

EAST POINT LIBRARY DEDICATION TUESDAY

Announcement was made yesterday of the dedicatory ceremonies of the new East Point public library to be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

DRIVERS ROBBED BY TAXI BANDITS

Cab and Seven Dollars Seized by One; Other Gets Only Few Cents.

Bandits posing as taxicab passengers operated on the streets of Atlanta last night and with pistols held up two taxicab drivers after they had directed the cabmen to drive them to unoccupied parts of the city.

A city-wide search by police radio was instituted. Based on descriptions supplied by the taxicab drivers, the police believe there were two bandits operating at about the same time. Both robbers were reported between 6 and 7 o'clock last night.

T. C. Ogleby, 509 Cameron avenue, told police he picked up a fare in front of the Bus Terminal and was directed to 1050 Memorial drive. When he reached that address the fare stuck a gun in his back.

Ogleby said he first decided to speed up his car in hopes that police would stop him, but the gunman ordered him to slow down. At Memorial drive and Clay street the robber ordered him from the cab, after taking $7, and left, driving the car.

W. H. Lowery, another taxicab driver, reported to the police that a man haled his cab in the vicinity of the state capitol and ordered him to drive into a dirt street off Pryor street, where, at the point of a pistol, he robbed Lowery of what coin he had, which Lowery told the police was only a few cents as he had only come on duty.

ARMY CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY BY WORK

Woodring Wants It Strong 'To Speak With Authority for Peace.'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring tonight said that America's national defense forces must be afforded the material means and must be so distributed to permit successful accomplishment of the protective missions assigned them.

Commemorating the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the United States army, he noted in a speech over a National Broadcasting Company network that a great part of the globe now is held in the "vise-like" grasp of Mars."

Woodring's address marked the only formal observance of the army's anniversary. Officials said the various army posts were too busy to stage celebrations.

Only future historians will be able to say how all-encompassing the present European war will be, Woodring declared.

However, the government of the United States has determined that in so far as it lies within its power, the mailed fist of Mars shall not extend across the oceans to pound upon the Americas."

He said the recent orders strengthening the armaments of the nation's protective forces were precautionary moves and for the purpose of "speaking with authority for peace."

Two motorcycle officers nearly run down by auto; Driver Arrested.

Two motorcycle policemen narrowly escaped being run down by a speeding automobile last night and then succeeded in capturing the car which was found to contain 25 gallons of non-tax paid liquor.

The policemen, T. J. Sikes and J. B. Bishop Jr., reported they were almost hit at Connally street and Glenwood avenue. Giving chase, they forced the driver, a negro, to stop at Cherokee avenue and Bass street.

The driver gave his name as Henry McCrary, of 64 Howell street. He was charged with speeding, reckless driving, disorderly conduct and possessing whisky. The case is set for 2 o'clock this afternoon in recorder's court.

EVERYTHING READY FOR GALA OPENING OF 25TH FAIR HERE

Begins at 1 P.M. Tomorrow; Lakewood Park Made Small City; Has Own Fire Department.

Lakewood Park has been converted from a recreational center to a city with all the latest and most modern equipment, both for the farm and home, as hundreds of workmen make ready for the grand opening of the 25th exhibition of the Southeastern Fair and National Livestock and Poultry show tomorrow afternoon for an eight-day showing.

The gates will swing wide to the public at 1 o'clock, giving a panorama of the south's great industrial and agricultural interests.

Mike Benton, president, and his aides declared yesterday the greatest fair in recent years was in prospect.

Lucky Teter, nationally known stunt artist, and his "Hell Drivers" will be featured at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, with the New York Fair in fireworks at 9:30 o'clock across the lake from the grandstand closing Sunday's program.

Some of the country's outstanding herds of dairy and beef cattle arrived late yesterday and have been placed in the big cattle and swine barn, awaiting Sunday's official opening.

TEXTILE WAGE RISE SET FOR OCTOBER 24

175,000 Workers Affected
by Increase to 32 1-2
Cents Per Hour.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—A wage order, directing payment of at least 32½ cents an hour to employees in the textile industry on and after October 24, was signed today by Administrator Elmer F. Andrews of the wage and hour division, Department of Labor.

On the same date the "floor for wages" for all industries engaged in interstate commerce, or in the production of goods for interstate commerce, goes from 25 cents an hour to 30 cents an hour, he announced.

It is estimated that about 175,000 employees in the textile industry, as defined in this order, are presently being paid less than 32½ cents an hour.

The minimum wage rate of 32 1-2 cents an hour was recommended on May 23, by industry committee No. 1 under the fair labor standards act. Donald M. Nelson, chairman, after an investigation of conditions in the industry.

Administrator Andrews held public hearings on the recommendation in Washington and Atlanta over a period of three weeks, in which more than 100 witnesses were heard in support and opposition, and a record of more than 3,000 pages compiled.

In signing the order, Administrator Andrews issued his "findings and opinion" in which he said:

"Upon the whole record I find that the recommendation of the committee, that a 32 1-2-cent minimum wage rate is the highest minimum wage rate for the textile industry which, having due regard to economic and competitive conditions, will not substantially curtail employment in the industry, is supported by the evidence adduced at this hearing."

U.S. POSTMASTERS TO HEAR LIVINGSTON

60 Georgians Expected To Attend National Convention in Capital.

Lon F. Livingston, Atlanta postmaster, will address delegates to the convention of the National Association of Postmasters, to be held in Washington, October 10 through 12.

Livingston will speak on post office organization at a breakfast the second day of the meeting. In addition to being one of the program speakers, he has been named a member of the resolutions committee.

Approximately 60 Georgia postmasters plan to leave Atlanta on two special Pullmans, Sunday, October 8. Wiley West, Decatur postmaster, has been named head of the transportation committee.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN GETS CCC 'SIDE CAMP'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—National Park Service officials agreed today to establish a Civilian Conservation Corps "side camp" of 50 enrollees atop Lookout mountain, at Chattanooga.

Representative Kefauver, Democrat, Tennessee, had urged continuation of the full CCC camp at that place, scheduled for closing next week.

The park service agreed, Kefauver added, to continue maintenance work with a view to establishing another full camp later if construction develops sufficiently to make it practical.

Fox Offers 'In Name Only'; Grand Features Robinson

'Rains Came' at Paramount; Mother Judges at Rialto; Spy Story at Capitol.

By LEE ROGERS,
Motion Picture Editor.

Heavy drama claims the screens this week as love and romance run the gamut in their expression of affection.

Most outstanding of the new films is the Fox theater's "In Name Only," which tells an old story of a money-mad wife refusing to give her husband his divorce so he can marry the woman he loves. Cary Grant proved his ability at the dramatic and romantic. Kay Francis is the wife and Carole Lombard the girl.

"Blackmail" is a rather dreary film at Loew's but it does have some action and good acting in parts of Edward G. Robinson and George Lockhart. It is a story of oil well fires and Georgia gang, purposed.

The Rialto has human story choked with emotion as mother realizes she is trying her own daughter for murder. "A Woman Is the Judge" is the picture with Frieda Inescort starring as the woman magistrate.

"The Rains Came," with Tyrone Power and Myrna Loy, has been

Fox

"In Name Only," current attraction at the Fox theater, is worthy of the theatergoer's attention for several reasons, one very notable one being its introduction Kay Francis in a character role, supposedly out of the star's limelight, but nevertheless attracting as much, if not more, than stars Cary Grant and Carole Lombard.

Kay is much better in this part than in any of her recent pictures in which Warner Brothers gave her star rating but with very poor stories and apparently did all within their power to destroy the star who once wore clothes as no other screen personality ever has.

The story is of a woman (Miss Francis) of little real character who gives up love to marry a man for his money. That man is Cary Grant, who in a strictly romantic role manages to put that little bit of Grant humor into his lines that set him apart from the usual film actor and make him deserving, above most others, of the star ranking.

Things have been rocking along for years in the family household with wife and husband understanding each other perfectly—and because of it avoiding each other as much as possible. A thoroughly capable woman, the wife manages to make husband's mother and father think their son is treating her badly, while she makes plans to get the old man's money when he dies.

Then the lovely Miss Lombard

Cotton Prices Not to Spurt, Chapman Says

Cotton prices will not go skyrocketing as the result of the European conflict, Dean Paul Chapman, of the College of Agriculture, Athens, warned farmers yesterday.

"The farmers of Georgia might reasonably expect to profit from the production of food and feed crops as much as they would from an increase in cotton production."

Several happy days and rendezvous are spent together until the girl finds out the man she loves is married. She tries to send him away but unsuccessfully. Grant wrings a promise of divorce from his money-mad wife and she sails to France with his parents—Grant and Miss Lombard thinks to get a divorce. But she doesn't give up that easy. Carole sends Cary away on Christmas Eve. He catches pneumonia.

For those who love a tender, dramatic love story, Cary Grant and Carole Lombard will furnish it in "In Name Only." Miss Francis will arouse your hate.

Loew's

Southern chain gangs with their reputed inhuman treatment of prisoners come in for a bit of criticism in "Blackmail," now at the Grand with Edward G. Robinson portraying the man who was convicted for a crime he didn't commit.

The best piece of acting in the film is done by Gene Lockhart as the cowardly ne'er-do-well who got Robinson sentenced in the first place, tricked him out of an oil well, and tipped off police as to his whereabouts after he had escaped the chain gang and spent nine peaceful years with his wife and boy in a Texas oil town.

Ruth Hussey portrays the wife and Bobs Watson is the child. Guinn Williams is good as the stupid assistant of Robinson in his business of fighting oil well fires.

Chief action concerns the fighting of oil well fires, the harsh treatment in the convict camp after Robinson is sent back for a second time, and the difficulties he goes through to make a second escape and clear his name so he can be with his wife and child.

Not much fault can be found with the acting. Again critics will have a chance to point to the worst in the south, as the most degenerate of actors are marshalled up to appear as sheriffs, deputies and convict guards. Robinson has had better roles, but Lockhart is even a better villain than he was in "Algiers"—and just as cowardly and traitorous.

Rialto

Mother is pitted against daughter in a new twist to the legal pictures. "A Woman Is the Judge," now featured at the Rialto, has Frieda Inescort as the woman and Rochelle Hudson as the daughter. It furnishes entertainment, though hardly be called anything great.

Miss Inescort is a highly respected woman judge who is sitting in criminal division. Seventeen years before her husband had run away with their three-year-old daughter.

Then suddenly one day, that daughter appears in her court on a murder charge. She had killed a racketeer to prevent that man from ruining her mother's career by divulging her daughter was in a criminal gang. The prosecutor, Otto Kruger, is the man trying to marry the mother and on the other hand, unknowingly, attempting to send her daughter to the electric chair.

Mother resigns her position to assume defense of her daughter. Another dramatic court scene follows.

Paramount

One of the best of the current season's motion pictures, "The Rains Came," which played last week at the Fox theater, has been moved to the Paramount for another week. It stars Tyrone Power, Myrna Loy and George Brent, with the latter taking most of the acting honors for himself.

It is the story of an English girl, with none too good reputation, visiting in India and falling in love with a high caste native doctor, and he with her. Brent is the Englishman who once loved Miss Loy himself—until they found neither could trust the other.

Most remarkable about the filming of the picture is the magnificent flood and earthquake scenes which is terrifying and thrilling. The suffering that follows is depicted as Miss Loy forgets she is an English lady and assumes minor roles in a hospital nursing and caring for the sick that she might be near the doctor. But, she contracts the plague.

Capitol

The patriotic efforts of a resourceful girl to avenge her murdered brother and at the same time do her nation a great service by risking her life as a government agent, forms the basis of "They Made Her a Spy," starring Sally Eilers and Allan Lane, which opens at the Capitol theater tomorrow.

When her brother is killed as a result of sabotage, Miss Eilers obtains a dangerous position as a volunteer government agent. How she burrows into the inner councils of a ring of foreign spies and saboteurs at the nation's capital, makes this offering an intensely dramatic and suspenseful entertainment.

Allan Lane plays opposite the talented actress as a newspaperman who joins a foreign spy ring in order to obtain a sensational story. Keeping her identity a secret, Miss Eilers also becomes a member of the same organization, and together the pair undergo many exciting experiences before the ring is smashed by the army intelligence division.

Girl Safe From France in Hapeville Home

Three Judges Rule Upon 69 Divorce Pleas

Women and men by the dozens paraded to the witness stands of three Fulton superior courts yesterday to tell the judges and juries their marriage knots of nuptial bliss had become tangled and should be untied.

The customary tales of unhappiness—"she nagged and nagged," "he drank to excess," "nothing I did seemed to please her," "I lost weight and became nervous"—all these and many more were poured into the ears of the jurors and judges as 69 men and women obtained either first or second divorce decrees.

It was the usual Friday court scene of uncontested divorces, with the added significance that Judges John D. Humphries, Virlyn B. Moore and Walter C. Hendrix all were hearing divorce complaints instead of just one judge.

NATIONAL GUARD NEAR QUOTA LIMIT

Enlistment Is Expected To Reach 90 Per Cent of Allowment by Monday.

Enlistment in the Georgia National Guard under a new expansion program is expected to be 90 percent complete by Monday, Assistant General John E. Stoddard announced yesterday.

Stoddard said his first report on recruiting activities would be dispatched to Washington Monday and by that time he expected to have 4,800 men in the force. The various National Guard units in Georgia will send their reports to Atlanta Sunday.

Five companies already have gone over the top and others are expected to exceed their quotas when all reports are in Stoddard said. Those reporting full quotas are Thomasville, Hawkinsville, Albany, Waycross and the medical detachment at Macon.

Under the national preparedness move, Georgia was allotted an expansion quota of 1,161. This will bring to the total Georgia strength to 5,062 men.

That, in substance, was the mayor's political lesson. She smilingly quit the executive offices, and returned to the board meeting again, since it was still in session.

Explaining she had changed her mind, and would like the board to reconsider its action in advertising her petition, she finally obtained the consent of the board to "hold the petition for another two weeks."

When she first faced the board she told its members that she was a graduate of Aimee McPherson's tabernacle in Los Angeles, and that she had been Aimee's local representative for 18 months.

But from all indications, Miss Carter will be on the job again October 13 "accompanied by 300 members of my flock."

"I think we are entitled to build a church there," she explained. "It will be a credit to the neighborhood. It will look better than most of the houses, and it will not be objectionable. In fact, it will be an asset to the community. We are in the business of saving souls. They allow liquor stores, and tell us we can't build a church."

ATLANTA BURGLARS GO IN FOR VARIETY

Take Everything From Cartload of Tomatoes to $57 in Cash.

Atlanta last night lost everything from a cartload of tomatoes to $57 in cash as burglars entered seven homes, stripped an automobile, and broke into another. The cartload of tomatoes, belonging to C. L. Belader, 404 Fullerton street, was stolen near his stand at the farmers' market on Piedmont avenue.

Robert Hill, 304 King street, S. E., told police somebody entered his home through a rear window and stole an overcoat valued at $26.50. A revolver valued at $20 was stolen from an automobile belonging to R. D. Poole, 2840 Peachtree road, which was parked in front of the Hurt building.

Cash totaling $57 was stolen from the downtown hotel room of Vernon Forrest, of Ellijay. A watch valued at $27 was taken from the home of John G. Simpson, 165 Bailey avenue. H. L. Waddell, 402 Fifth street, N. W., reported the theft of a watch valued at $55.

Garden tools worth $35 were stolen from the rear of the home of W. M. Jenkins, 854 Rosedale drive, N. E.

Birmingham Busy Stoking Furnaces Cold for 15 Years

Every Available Unit at Southern City Called Into Use With Company Reporting Backlog of Domestic And War-Inspired Orders.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 29.—Interests are negotiating with an English-French syndicate for sale of 500,000 tons.

Domestic orders from carriers have played a substantial part in the sharp industrial spurt here.

Every blast furnace in this southern industrial center was in operation—some hastily repaired after being cold for more than 15 years.

While pig iron production was 100 per cent, steel mills operated at 86 per cent of capacity with early increases foreseen.

Coal Looks Up.

The coal industry, harder hit than either steel or iron during the depression, anticipated promising business increases. Activity in steel and iron mills has increased consumption, while an authoritative source revealed Alabama coal

BRITISH BOMBERS RAID GERMAN FLEET

The recent sinkings emphasized the statement of Captain Gebrelsen, of the 875-ton Norwegian freighter Jern, sunk off Kristiansand, that it was "impossible now to get across the North sea except by convoy." He said a submarine sank his ship.

"Germany has a barrier of submarines co-operating with air-planes," he said.

The crew of the Jern—believed the first Norwegian ship to be torpedoed during the war—reached Kristiansand yesterday, bringing first word of the ship's sinking.

Before this news was received, the Taaksta, 1,830-ton Norwegian freighter, had been torpedoed early yesterday in Korsfjord, one of the steamer entrances to Bergen on the west Norwegian coast.

Shortly afterwards came information that the 2,000-ton Norwegian Salas struck a mine and sank in the North sea off the Danish coast.

The third ship reported torpedoed in the 36-hour period was the 3,378-ton Swedish cargo vessel Nyland, loaded with iron bound for Antwerp. She was bound off Feisten lighthouse in the vicinity of Stavanger, Norway.

Sweden Envoy Protests.

The Swedish minister in Berlin protested the sinking of the Nyland, insisting that the cargo was exclusively for Belgium; and thus was excluded from the contraband list.

In addition to the excellent lesson helps provided by the various denominational publishing houses, I would suggest to all teachers that they get a copy of Broadbudd's "Commentary on Matthew," the best single volume on Matthew that I know, and my second choice would be Dr. Campbell Morgan's commentary on Matthew. Best of all, of course, is a re-study of the Gospel itself.

Broadbudd says that the purpose of the Gospel of Matthew is twofold: "To prove the fact that Jesus was the Messiah, and to exhibit the true nature of the Messianic reign."

Matthew shows both from prophecy and history that Jesus of Nazareth was the long-promised Messiah. Matthew presents Jesus as the King. He enters Jerusalem as King, and His royal descent is recognized when He is addressed as "Son of David."

How New Friends Divided Up the Spoils

Not going, but gone are the bounds of old Poland, partitioned for the fourth time in history by two sweeps of a pen at a Moscow conference table. The Russo-German accord, which fixed the mutual (dotted line) boundary of the Red and Nazi dictatorships, obliterated the heavy-lined original boundaries of Poland.

Russo-Nazi Move Renews Italian Hopes for Peace

New Balance of Power, With Soviet Checkmate for Nazi Imperialism, Welcomed at Rome; Estonian Pact Terms Construed As Reds' Suspicion of Reich.

By WALTER DURANTY.

For North American Newspaper Alliance.

ROME, Sept. 29.—(By Cable)—

The Russo-German pact caused no great surprise in Rome, where the view already has been voiced that the previous line of demarcation was of temporary character.

In Vatican circles, it is now hoped that an ethnic Polish state will be formed west of the new line where Catholic freedom of worship will be allowed despite political subservience to Germany.

It is noted, however, that the Russians still hold the line of the rivers, except for a brief interval between Krymopol and Rawawna, as well as control of the Rumanian and Hungarian frontiers, which confirms the previous opinion that the Russians have driven a hard bargain with their German "friends."

This theory is strengthened by the Russo-Estonian agreement, with its startling reference to Soviet protection against attack or living statesman much nearer Rome than London?"

The attitude of Turkey continues to attract great attention here, where it is now thought that Russia will not aim at a rupture of Anglo-French-Turkish agreements—at least until all hope of a peaceful compromise is abandoned—but rather at obtaining Turkish consent to open the Dardanelles to Soviet warships and close them to Franco-British warships as and when the Russians may desire.

The Vatican, as quoted in the Observatore Romano, describes the Dardanelles as "the Maginot line of Franco-British naval strategy," and the right to open or shut that vital pass would be a triumph of Soviet diplomacy of equal or greater value than Soviet control of the north Baltic.

In short, speaking generally, Rome is by no means dissatisfied with the present European line-up, in which it persists in considering Soviet re-emergence as a great western power as a more important factor than the actual state of hostilities between Germany and the Allies.

To practical, clear Italian reasoning, it is literally incomprehensible that France and Britain would be so "obstinate" as to continue the war in patently unfavorable conditions, at least for several months—now that Hitler's own act has replaced a hostile Poland with a far more redoubtable neighbor.

Tonight, for the first time, I have the impression that Rome's hopes of peace are decidedly more concrete than mere wishful thinking.

Cattle Show Slated At CLARKESVILLE SALE

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

CLARKESVILLE, Ga., Sept. 29.—A Pure-Bred Cattle Show will be held at the Cherokee Market here Tuesday in connection with the October livestock sale, it was announced here today. Habersham county Future Farmers of America will manage the cattle show.

From time to time, he said, special boards such as the war resources board contribute to these preparations.

Don't Expect "Emergency."

The board, he said, had been studying the possibility of industrial expansion, location of industry, and means of increasing its output, adding power facilities and various administrative problems involved in gearing American industry to a war basis.

The board is to make its report soon and then be disbanded. When the President was asked if it would be reconvened in case of an emergency, he said only that he did not expect an emergency to arise.

Anglo-French disclaimer of the Russo-German attempt to hold them responsible for continuance of hostilities as a natural reaction which does not necessarily pre-

There is also an inclination to discount the Russo-German decla-

RUSSIA PREPARES TO RESUME NEGOTIATIONS WITH TURKEY

MOSCOW SEEKING TO EXTEND POWER IN EAST, BALKANS

Bulgarian Envoys Already Working on Commercial Aviation Accord With Soviet Representatives.

By NORMAN DEUEL.

MOSCOW, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Soviet statesmen tonight prepared to resume their negotiations with Turkish Foreign Minister Suleyman Saracoglu after reaching a new agreement with Nazi Germany named here as establishing a new order in Europe.

(Berlin heard that Russia and Turkey will issue a joint declaration Saturday with regard to their relations and common aims.)

It was taken for granted that Josef Stalin would lose no time, now that his relations with Germany are on a sound basis, to extend his influence in the Near East and in the Balkans.

Negotiating Air Accord.

Bulgarian representatives already were here negotiating commercial aviation agreements and it was reported without confirmation that the Bulgarian premier would arrive later to discuss political relations.

A new Soviet minister to Bulgaria, Arkady Y. Lavrentyev, has been appointed and will assume his post soon in Sofia.

Events have piled on one another here so rapidly in the past 24 hours that diplomats would be surprised at nothing—not even a revelation that Russia and Germany have the most far-reaching plans for a division of all eastern Europe and much of the Near East into spheres of Soviet and Nazi influence.

Russia To Back Reich.

It was taken for granted that Russia now will support Germany's peace offensive against Britain and France with all her power and that, if the offensive fails, Stalin will reconsider his position.

In any event the German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, who flew back to Berlin today after signing the new German-Soviet frontier and friendship agreement with Premier and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, was expected back in Moscow within a month to agree on details of the next moves in expanding Russo-German collaboration.

CITY CIVIL SERVICE SET-UP IS FAVERED

Proposed Regulations Indorsed by Employees at Public Hearing.

The city personnel board last night approved proposed administrative regulations for the new civil service law following an enthusiastic endorsement at a public hearing.

Unanimous approval was given at the hearing, which is required by law before action can be taken, by 150 representatives of Atlanta city government and the Atlanta Federation of Trades.

The proposed regulations, which will go before city council Monday, pertain to administration of the civil service law passed last May by the legislature. If approved by council, the rules will be sent to the board of education, which must pass upon those sections pertaining to its 210 clerical employees.

The proposed regulations govern appointments by civil service examinations, set up rules by which promotions can be recommended and appointments made, determine the procedure for possible demotions or suspensions under public hearing, and curtail active political work among employees.

At the meeting last night discussion was led by J. A. Harper, chairman of the personnel board, and Carl Sutherland, personnel director, who drew up the proposed rules. Sutherland explained important points to a gathering composed of many employees who will be affected by the new rulings. He said "enthusiastic endorsement" was given by all present.

DUTCH LINER BRINGS 1,197 FROM EUROPE

597 Are Americans Fleeing War; Included Are Merle Oberon, Mrs. Carnegie.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Sept. 29.—(P) The Nieuw Amsterdam, flagship of the Holland-American Line, arrived tonight with 1,197 passengers from Europe, 597 of them Americans returning from the war-torn continent.

Among the Americans were Karl Hilgendorf, 23, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Douglas Miller, 22, of Ann Arbor, Mich., survivors of the Norwegian ship Ronda which struck a mine in the North sea.

Also aboard were Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, widow of the steel magnate; Merle Oberon and Mrs. Ernest Lubitsch, wife of the producer.

Officials of the line have announced that the ship, largest ever built in the Netherlands, will be laid up indefinitely on its return to its home port, Rotterdam.

This puts Russia in command of the gulf of Finland, Riga and Bothnia.

world last night that she wanted peace, but only on the condition that the German-Russian flat on the fate of Poland be accepted.

"Hands off the Balkans" and "let us deal in our own way with the Baltic states" were secondary pronouncements which issued from government quarters.

In the opinion of informed Berlin quarters, Premier Mussolini appeared to have been chosen for the role of "peacemaker" because Italy ranked first among the "friendly powers" with which Germany and Russia proposed to co-operate in their peace maneuver.

Meanwhile, Rumania shifted her armed forces for protection against powerful neighbors peering over her borders at rich areas they lost to her in the World War settlement.

Her army, already largest in the Balkans, was steadily being strengthened just in case all peace plans for southeastern Europe fail.

Most important move was strengthening the Bessarabian border defense, facing Soviet Russia, by replacing the fifth army corps with the more highly mechanized and mobile second corps.

Russia, Estonia Sign Pact.

Russia also concluded an agreement yesterday with little Estonia by which she gains greater power in the northern Baltic.

A 10-year mutual assistance pact with Estonia made the little republic, formerly Russian territory, virtually a protectorate of the Soviet Union which was given the right to establish naval and air bases and army garrisons on Estonian soil. This pact was accompanied by a trade agreement.

The second Russian agreement with Germany, which, like the others, was concluded by German Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop, and Premier Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, was called the "German-Soviet Russian border and friendship treaty."

Poland Divided.

It divided Poland into two parts about equal in size and rejected "any interference in this settlement by third powers." The partition—the fourth in Poland's history—centered roughly on the Bug and the San rivers and gave Germany Warsaw, the important Vistula river and all of Lublin province.

The partition provided that there be no buffer state, that Germany and the U. S. S. R. would have a common frontier.

The third Russo-German agreement provided for a Soviet economic program by which Russia would deliver raw materials to Germany in return for industrial products "to be delivered over an extended period."

Neutral diplomatic quarters in Moscow foresaw the possibility that relations between the U. S. S. R. and France and Britain might deteriorate rapidly unless the two democracies showed an about-face on their war aims which include reconstitution of Poland.

Before his departure for Berlin Von Ribbentrop said in a statement to Tass, official Soviet news agency:

"My stay in Moscow was short again, unfortunately too short. I hope to spend more time here on my next visit. Nevertheless, we made good use of these two days. The following was made clear:

"1. Germano-Soviet friendship now is firmly established.

"2. Both countries never will permit the interference of third powers with the problems of eastern Europe.

"3. Both states wish that peace will be restored and that Great Britain and France will discontinue the struggle against Germany, which is absolutely senseless and devoid of any prospect.

"4. If, however, the instigators of war gain the upper hand in those countries, then Germany and the U. S. S. R. will know how to reply."

The interview was regarded as perhaps the first that a Nazi diplomat ever gave exclusively to the Soviet press.

Meanwhile, Russia resumed discussions with Turkish representatives regarding the status of the Black sea and the Dardanelles, in which Russia is vitally interested.

Fact Called "Blackmail."

In a radio broadcast from Paris, Jean A. Giraudoux, commissioner general of information, called the German-Russian move for peace "blackmail" and added that Britain and France were fighting against "the barbarism of one of the most modern and well-organized nations of Europe."

At the same time foreign observers in Paris said they considered the visit of French President Albert Lebrun to the front lines as a further indication that France was making no plans to accept any peace proposals which result from Russia and Germany's split up Poland, France's eastern ally.

Giraudoux said Hitler and Stalin were trying to force an "eastern peace" on Europe.

Such a peace he described as regimation of other nations to conform to Hitler's and Stalin's ideas of government.

In a previous speech Premier Daladier declared flatly France is fighting to prevent her own "enslavement" by Germany.

Poland Rejects Proposals.

Polish Ambassador Jules Lukasiewicz handed the French under-secretary of foreign affairs, Champier De Rives, a declaration that his government never would accept the German-Russian proposals.

The fact that the French gave wide publicity to the Polish declaration provided for a Soviet economic program by which Russia would deliver raw materials to Germany in return for industrial products "to be delivered over an extended period."

BRITISH LOAD SHIPS WITH DIXIE COTTON

First Shipment of 600,000 Bales Will Be Bartered for Rubber.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP) A British vessel will leave New Orleans next week with the first shipment of 600,000 bales of cotton bartered to Great Britain by the United States for rubber, Department of Agriculture officials announced today.

The cotton already has been delivered to British authorities in New Orleans. Bales to complete the huge transaction likely will be loaded at Savannah, Houston and Los Angeles within the next few months.

Arrangements had not been completed to obtain delivery of rubber from Britain of an equal value. Most of it was expected to be obtained at southeastern Asia ports, principally Singapore.

Great Britain may use the cotton immediately, for under the agreement completed before outbreak of hostilities, she could use it in an emergency rather than keep it in storage for five years. However, the cotton was expected to be stored against possibility of interruption in British shipping.

CAMP URGES DEATH OF FEUDAL POLITICS

State Regime Pledged To Unqualified Support of Deal Asked.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 29.—(P) Lawrence Camp, United States district attorney for north Georgia, urged today "sine die adjournment" of feudal politics and election in 1940 of a state administration pledged "without reservation" to the national recovery program launched by President Roosevelt.

In an address prepared for a gathering of the Bibb county unit of the Democratic council of Georgia, Camp charged the "maulings and haulings of warring elements" had caused Georgia to become "mired ever deeper in economic bewilderment and retrogression."

The New Deal leader, who was backed unsuccessfully by President Roosevelt in a 1938 attempt to unseat United States Senator Walter F. George, deplored "the evil of transcending the law by executive fiat" and said a "conspicuous example" was the "usurped control over specific items in the state's budget."

Describing the budget law as originally a safety valve to balance income and disbursement, Camp declared it was never intended "as a device by which a Governor might remove his political enemies from the pay roll, wreak vengeance through salary reductions, nor substitute friends whom he desires to favor."

"The possibility of such manipulation," he asserted, "exists in the budget itself if man need amend it. But it is also important to choose public officials who are above the suspicion of such practices."

Camp said he believed the voters were resentful and indignant that campaign issues "always pass into eclipse" after election and left dormant "until resurrected for the succeeding political farce."

It means that all men of the true Polish race will become German subjects or vassals, but that very few of them will be placed under Russian rule, and that therefore German and Russian interests in the former territories of Poland will not be so closely identical as would have been the case if the demarcation line of September 22 had been upheld.

Solidarity Vague.

As to the German-Russian political, military and economic solidarity expressed in the three sets of agreements, it is of the vaguest nature. The most precise disposition is intended to forbid all third powers to meddle with Polish affairs, but it may be undermined by the differentiation of interests already referred to.

As to the promise to consult together about necessary measures to be enforced if France and Britain do not allow themselves to be persuaded to make peace upon the basis of accomplished facts, it does not really commit Stalin to anything. We French have had long experience of consultation pacts in the last 20 years and know that in practice they amount to very little.

Besides, Stalin cannot have been sincere when he authorized Premier Molotov to sign a declaration to the effect that hostilities ought to be stopped at the earliest date. Such a speedy end of the conflict could not fail to prove disastrous to the Russian cause, as it would enable Germany to turn around toward the east and resume her expansion there before the Soviet power has had time to consolidate its newly won positions.

Irish-Purdue Top Nation's Card Today; Wave Faces Clemson

NORTH CAROLINA MEETS DEACONS IN TOUGH CLASH

Rice Favored Over Vandy; L. S. U. Picked To Trip Ole Miss.

BILL BONI.
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—College football, the game that is "getting so complicated even the second-guessers are having a tough time," makes its official 1939 bow tomorrow. A meeting between Notre Dame and Purdue, each loaded with enough backs to supply half a dozen ordinary teams, serves as the nation's headliner.

In several ways the Notre Dame-Purdue clash is typical of the times, typical of the development expressed so neatly in the above quotation from Columbia's Lou Little.

With Saggau, Sheridan, Piepul and Zontini in the Irish backfield and Byelene, Brown and Brock (a doubtful starter) operating for Purdue, the emphasis will be on offense. That's where the emphasis is expected to remain right through the season and into the Bowl games.

The fact that this major conflict is an opening game also stresses a trend of recent years that is even stronger this year. With few exceptions, the big boys no longer are picking on their little brothers—under—the pigs, and there are a good two-dozen other games tomorrow that are of mid-season caliber.

Finally, the Irish-Boilermaker duel points the way to a prosperous year for college treasuries. A crowd of 40,000 is expected at South Bend, 45,000 are due to see Minnesota play Arizona, Seattle expects 30,000 for Pittsburgh vs. Washington, at Chapel Hill they're counting on 24,000 for North Carolina vs. Wake Forest, and so it goes right down the line.

The program points up only too well the wisdom of Little's crack. However, this department, far from being a second-guesser, is strictly a first-guesser, and hereby proceeds with its stabs in the dark which it hopes won't turn into knife-thrusts in the back, as follows (probable attendance in parenthesis):

Notre Dame-Purdue (40,000)—As already pointed out, there are going to be a lot of backs in motion in this one. The Irish have more backs, therefore should get more points. Q. E. D.

Rice-Vanderbilt (25,000)—Tennessee Poly tied the Commodores, 13-13. This is another bowl of Rice, Rice.

Oklahoma-Southern Methodist (30,000)—Tom-Tom Stidham is three-deep in the line and doubtful about his backfield. Despite that reservation, Oklahoma.

Washington-Pittsburgh (30,000)—The Panthers, it seems from here, will be fighting too many mental hazards. Washington.

Southern California-Oregon (35,000)—Southern Cal warms up for bigger jobs to come. The Trojans.

Indiana-Nebraska (20,000)—Indiana, on a shot in the dark.

Tulane-Clemson (25,000)—The day's grudge game, Tulane, which they say is loaded, over Clemson, which isn't empty-handed, either.

Louisiana State-Mississippi (30,000)—Another on the same order and, still in the revenge motif, L. S. U.

Missouri-Colorado (8,000)—Paul Christman, a great passer as a sophomore, should be better as a junior, Missouri.

Colgate-New York U. (14,000)—The passing here may not be so fancy, but there'll be more of it on both sides. Colgate to win its first home game since 1937 in its new stadium.

Minnesota-Arizona (45,000)—Arizona's coach, it's said, has had to guard against overconfidence. The Gophers should have a good cure for that, Minnesota.

North Carolina-Wake Forest (24,000)—Having stormed The Citadel, the Tarheels should be able to snake through the Forest, North Carolina.

Wisconsin-Marquette (35,000)—Marquette is due to start climbing back, but this hardly seems the spot, Wisconsin.

Stanford-Oregon State—In spite of Jim Kisselburgh, Stanford, here, there and elsewhere.

East—Army over Furman, Navy over "Dark Horse" William and Mary, Powerhouse Holy Cross over Manhattan. Brown over Rhode Island State, West Virginia over West Virginia Wesleyan, Dartmouth over St. Lawrence, Carnegie Tech over Pittsbugh.

South—Alabama over Howard, Arkansas over Mississippi State, Georgia over The Citadel, V. M. I. over Kentucky, Duke over Davidson.

Southwest—Texas over Florida, Texas A. & M. over Centenary.

Far West—Santa Clara over Utah.

Joe Cronin Re-Signed For Five More Years

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Tom Yawkey, millionaire owner of the Boston Red Sox, tonight announced the re-engagement of Joe Cronin as player-manager for another five-year term. He also said he had signed Jimmy Foxx, Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr and Jim Tabor for the 1940 season.

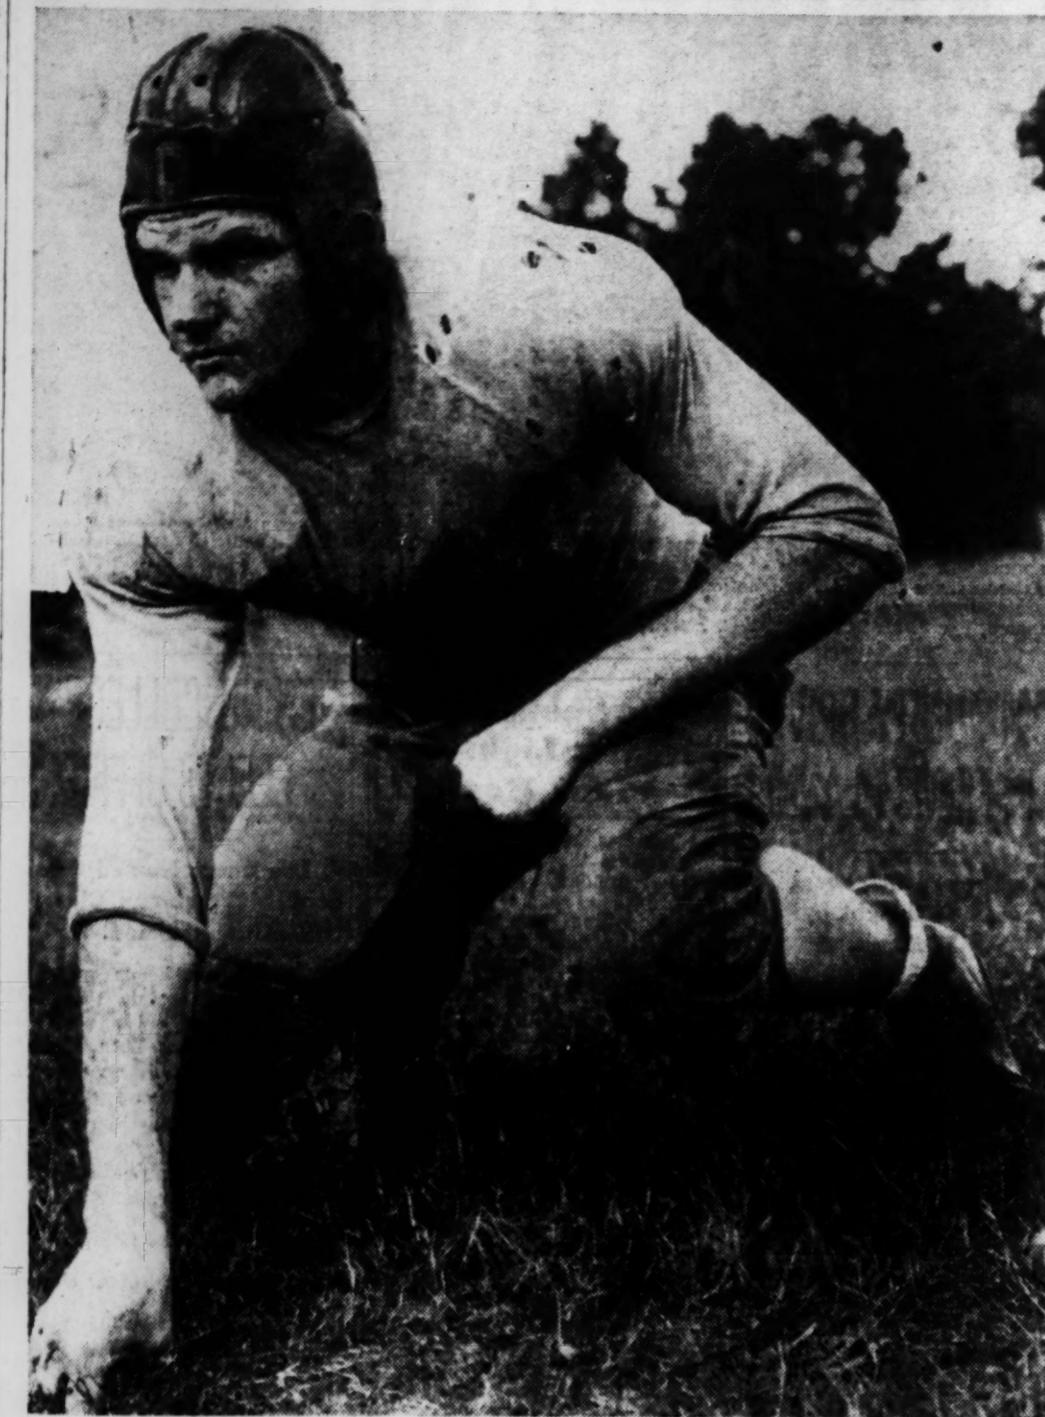

"I am more than satisfied with Joe Cronin's managerial record and I am sure the Boston baseball public agrees with me," Yawkey said.

Cronin was purchased from Washington for a reputed $150,000 and Lyn Lary in 1934.

Yawkey refused to mention Cronin's salary, said to be about $27,000 a year.

Oglethorpe Battles Erskine Here Today

John Patrick Counts Heavily on Backfield; Decatur Boy Star of Visiting Eleven.

Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels will open their football program at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon at Hermance field with Erskine College from Due West, S. C., as opponents.

Three veterans in the backfield, plus a promising young sophomore halfback, Joe Tosches, will be Coach John Patrick's main hope for one of his best seasons despite a limited squad of 28 players.

Arville Axleburg, out all last year from an emergency operation, has returned to his old post at quarterback, to give stability to the backfield. Martin Kelly is expected to be an improvement over his 1938 form. Elmer George rounds out a well-balanced backfield.

Inability to substitute consistently and capably in the backfield will be Coach Patrick's main worry.

Paul McCain, a senior backfield star, is Erskine's main hope. He will be playing "at home." McCain is a Decatur boy and has been outstanding in the Erskine backfield for a couple of seasons.

Oglethorpe's line will consist of Bobby Mills and John Petostis at ends; Ernie Sheffield and Tony Zelenick, tackles; Ross Wyrosdick and Louis Loskosky, guards, and John Morence, center.

TECH HI SCORES ON FOUR PLAYS AFTER KICKOFF

Atlanta Make 13 First Downs, Blue Jackets 7; Smith Stars.

By ROY WHITE.
Showing a decided improvement over its past performances, Tech High threw all its scoring plays into the first few minutes of the game and defeated Savannah High, 20 to 0, here tonight to get back into the running for G. I. A. A. championship honors.

Realizing the tough game the Bluejackets put up in losing, 7 to 2, last year, the Smithies put on a great offensive exhibition and scored in just four plays after receiving the kick on their own 29 yard line. The offensive spurt was carried on into the second period when a Smithies reserve team scored, but from then on, Savannah tightened up its defense and turned back every Tech High threat.

Tech High's blocking, particularly that of Ben Cogburn and Ed Corbett, the two quarterbacks, was all that could be asked. The Smithies substituted frequently after the first quarter. Late in the game the visitors threatened when the second and part of the third string team was on the field, for Tech High.

LONE THREAT.

Tech High turned back the lone threat on the seven-yard line when a combined forward passing attack and line backs actually lost ground. Two long forward passes, Way to McLaurin, were the deciding factors in Savannah's march of 50 yards.

That lone threat netted Savannah three first downs in succession and ran the Bluejackets' total to nine for the game.

Tech High gained 13 first downs, six in the first two scoring drives, three more in the second period and four others scattered through the entire second half.

Tech High scored its first touchdown in just four plays after the kickoff. Forrest Smith returned Savannah's kick to Tech High's 29-yard line. Smith dashed 25 yards around left end. Frank Heinold went four over the center. Billy Paschal, on a sweeping right-end run, gained 25 yards. Smith then scored on a 25-yard left-end run. Paschal missed the try for

Auburn Beats Southern, 6 to 0

Fumbling and Petrel's Fine Kicking Hold Back Plainsmen.

By JACK TROY.

CRAMTON BOWL, MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 29.—It was a case tonight of the Auburn football team playing under "raps." And if you should happen to ask any of the 10,000 who saw the game, they'll verify the fact that the Birmingham-Southern team can really rap.

Auburn was able to get only one drive going tonight and it produced the game's lone touchdown. A 17-yard pass from Dick McGowen, left end, to Gus Pearson, right end, sparked a quick touchdown offensive in the late stages of the initial period.

Pearson was downed at the southern 24 and Charley Hayworth and McGowen did the rest. Between them they carted the ball to the 5 and Hayworth made it across the double stripes with a plain old-fashioned buck.

NOT COHERENT.

Auburn wasn't a coherent team tonight and the only real cheer the supporters got came late in the game when George Kenmore swung into action. He is a quick, swifly hard-running back. He looked good on the 10 times he carried the ball.

On these 10 excursions he picked up 68 yards, lost only two. Last year he had a tricky knee. This year he is tricky in all other ways. The boy will bear watching.

It became apparent as the game wore on in Cramton bowl, in the final of the Auburn-Southern series, that the Panthers from Birmingham were determined to hold down the score at any cost. Joe Petrel did some great kicking and the Panthers put up a strong defensive game.

ONLY TOUCHDOWN.

Thus it was, following the game's only touchdown, that Auburn played under raps of a very brisk sort. At times they assumed the proportion of brass knuckles.

There was one scoring chance for Southern, which is bowing out of intercollegiate football after this season. A fumble by Geter Cannell, in the second period, was recovered by Walter Wolf, who wore no sheep's clothing. Auburn was penalized and found itself back on the 17. A pass, McMichael to Sands, a drive by McMichael and another pass, McMichael to Cochran, missed by scant feet of providing a first down at the Auburn seven.

But it missed, and that was the last chance, it developed. A large veteran Panther team then resolved itself to keep the Tigers away from scoring territory and time ran around with a determined Auburn team driving steadily goalward.

CALLED BACK.
It was apparent as the boys met on the sidelines, shook hands with each other and started out for the kickoff, that they meant to make the last game against Auburn one to remember. And it was.

FIRST QUARTER.

After a short Auburn kick-off which was taken by Holliday at the 30 and run back to the 35, Petrel kicked all the way to Auburn 14, where the ball was dead.

That was the start of the final Auburn-Birmingham-Southern game. And for a while thereafter, the game resolved into a bucking and punting proposition on both sides.

McGowen kicked from deep in his own territory and McMichael returned 3 to his own 15. Petrel

Modern Meal-Planners Prefer Not-Too-Heavy, Not-Too-Light Desserts

A dessert exciting enough for the most important occasions is this raisin-caramel layer pudding.

You Can't Go Wrong When Serving Raisin-Caramel Layer Pudding

By SALLY SAVER.

If it's a dessert of mouth-watering goodness, neither too light nor too heavy you're wanting, seek no further for here it is! Raisin-Caramel Layer Pudding is delightful to look at and heavenly to taste. It is easy, too, the only slight complication being it is made in two parts, which takes care of the "layer" business.

Here is how to make it:

Raisin-Caramel Layer Pudding.

Caramel:
2-3 cup seedless raisins
3-4 cup granulated sugar
1-3 cup water
1-4 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream
1-2 cup chopped walnut meats
Custard:
2 cups milk
1-2 cup granulated sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold milk
2 eggs
1-2 teaspoon lemon extract
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Procedure for making caramel: Rinse and drain raisins. Combine sugar, water and salt and cook until a rich brown in color. Add cream and raisins and cook stirring until sugar is dissolved. Remove from fire, add nuts and blend. Cool. Procedure for making custard: Combine milk, sugar and salt in top of double boiler and scald. Remove from fire, add gelatin that has been moistened in two tablespoons cold milk,

Seldom Does One Suffer From Lack of Vitamin C

By Dr. William Brady.

Extreme deprivation of vitamin C (also called ascorbic acid, ascorbic acid) is the cause of scurvy. The main characteristics of scurvy are peevishness, gloomy disposition, unreasonably quarrelsome-ness, softness or flaccidity of muscles, weakness of joints or legs, laziness or preference to avoid play work or even movement, tenderness or pain on movement, inflammation, sponginess, soreness of gums, loosening of teeth, thickening or swelling of wrists, swelling of joints resembling "inflammatory rheumatism," tendency to bleed excessively, often bleeding under the skin, so that "black and blue" marks occur from trifling or no known injury (patients in institutions presenting such marks have frequently caused unjust accusations of abuse to be brought against attendants.)

Unless the diet is extraordinarily restricted, say from ignorance, from institutional mismanagement, and stir until dissolved. Pour over beaten eggs, stirring briskly to prevent curdling. Add flavorings and chill until firm. Serve in stemmed glasses, alternating the custard and caramel.

Top with whipped cream if desired. Six servings.

Questions pertaining to foods will be answered gladly by Sally Saver. Write or phone, care of The Constitution or Walnut 6565.

However, there's never been a man who was satisfied to have the majority of the family brains in his wife's name. It is not only devastating to his inner pride but also to his vanity before the public and everybody knows most of the vengeance men and women practice on one another is directly traceable to wounded vanity.

Who says the smart gals have it easy? Mother Nature, being primarily concerned with leveling things, frequently mates these smart gals with men who are distinctly inferior; but they are men and none of them enjoys having his superiority questioned. A wife has only to challenge her husband's place on the pinnacle and the fight is on.

Mayne after all the Beautiful-But-Dumb have the last laugh. Or is it the Dumb Brutes they decoy and marry? I wouldn't know.

Curtain Motif Taken From Chair Back

By Elizabeth MacRae Boykin.

Sunday—A dinner table for an autumn day: yellow linen cloth, fruit patterned pottery plates, a large wooden salad bowl centerpiece filled with lemons, egg plant and noble big walnuts.

Monday—Saw a delicately lovely sheer fabric for curtains. Its motif was taken from a chair back designed by Thomas Jefferson for his son-in-law, Randolph.

Tuesday—We're working on our rock pile today, making a retaining wall to build up a terraced level on the front yard slope. We've several of them in the offing, since our house is practically on a mountain side—without the mountain however. Just that.

Wednesday—Good news for the lazy! We may not even have to press the electric button in the home of the future. At least, there is now a silent mercury wall light switch which turns on the light when twilight falls.

Thursday—Heard the details of a trailer expedition across Asia overland from Budapest to Bombay via the Khyber Pass. The trailer is air-conditioned and equipped with every luxury of civilization: a tiled bath, indirect lighting, sponge rubber mattresses, vacuum cleaner, washer, ironer, toaster and all the rest. Maybe even I could take the adventurous life if it were dished up as comfortably as that.

Friday—The old stigma once attached to the words "substitute" and "artificial" are having to go the way of a lot of other old fashioned prejudices. For the laboratory is actually producing materials that go nature one better, or rather serve our purpose so much better that the man-made material would seem to be the "original" while the natural product is the make-shift that we "did with" until we learned how to make something that suited better.

Take neoprene, for example, that new man-made rubber which actually does many jobs better than rubber. Take artificial glass that doesn't break and permits the ultra-violet rays to go right through.

Saturday—Ho hum for water lilies. I'm wondering if they're worth the temptation the pond is more effective than the deep breathing routines for developing the chest. You only use oxygen on the demand of your muscles, and a brisk walk increases your need for oxygen and your ability to use it.

While you are about it, gauge your speed according to your weight. If you are an overweight, don't ambie! You can burn three times as many calories by walking fast—say, at the rate of five miles per hour. The unweights, of course, should take the time and walking should be a lesson in leisure. For all that they need exercise, they should contrive to get it at as low a calorie expenditure as possible. They need to hoard the energy they have while still trying to build more.

Wounded Himself—But He Helps Others

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

NEW YORK.—We drove over from Wilmington, Del., to Reading, Pa., yesterday afternoon, and because it was very foggy the drive took us longer than we had expected. It is pretty country and I love the old stone farmhouses, whitewashed and looking so spic and span.

It was too dark really to see Reading when we arrived, but we made a stop at a hospital run by a group of Catholic sisters, to see a World War veteran who seems to have made his long illness not only bearable to himself, but of value to many other people. All he can do is to use his eyes and his voice, but he sends postcards at Christmas and makes money in various other ways to build up a fund from which he helps fellow sufferers.

When I went in, three young men were calling on him and he told me they were members of a boys' club in which he was interested. They probably contribute much to the pleasure of his existence, but I couldn't help thinking that this man was furnishing all of us with a valuable lesson in the way to take whatever happens to us in this world and turn it to some advantage.

The fog, and this visit, made us rather late in reaching the hotel and the press conference and photographers were somewhat hurried, as well as our dinner and our dressing. We were ready, however, in time for the lecture, and I think the time has come for me to gratefully acknowledge the fact that people in this country are most considerate of their speakers! Years ago, it seems to me, there was considerably more moving about in halls during speeches which made it difficult for the speaker. Probably the installation of the kind of public address system which greets one on practically every platform, makes it possible for the whole audience to hear any speaker. It is no strain, even for a woman, to talk, as it usually works better if you keep your voice on its natural pitch.

This is to me a great relief! Even the photographers are kind and when I suggest that flashing bulbs after the first few minutes are a little disconcerting to the audience, they are most considerate. I always remember Ruth Bryan Rohde's story of how a kitten playing on her stage, on one occasion, attracted all the attention from what she was saying. Flashing bulbs can have much the same effect.

After the lecture, there was only one question sent up from the audience, so we got off early enough to reach Harrisburg by midnight and get a fairly good night's sleep on the way to New York city.

Arrived this morning, several people greeted me at our apartment, and the telephone has been ringing more or less steadily.

Now I am off to see an art exhibit, meet my aunt, Mrs. David Gray, and do a number of other things on the spur of the moment, which I will tell you about Monday.

Is Two Notrump Bid Wiser Than a Takeout Double?

WHAT TO BID?

Neither side is vulnerable. Dealer, with a part-score of 60, opens the bidding one spade. Your partner passes. Third hand raises to two spades. What should you do, in fourth position, holding:

South leads the spade 4, West trumps with the club 6, North overtrumps with the 7. North leads the club 4, East wins with the 5, South discarding the heart 5. East leads the spade 7 won by South's 9.

North can always overtrump West and return trumps. South led the spade 8 at trick four, East would have taken the last two tricks.

Wreath for Gay Cloth

By Alice Brooks.

Those are good reasons why this might well be your main outdoor activity. If so, you should spend an hour a day at it, all at one time, to allow the blood to get into the muscles. That's so it will be easier for you to relax later! And, if you watch your step, you will be able to walk away with a good figure!

Stretch up every step you take. That doesn't mean "head up," "chin level," or "shoulders back."

When you check up on yourself, particularly a girl, posture is the result and that is what you want. Just stretch up with your entire body and those details will take care of themselves.

This upward stretch should begin with the lower abdominal wall, which should be constantly pulled up, making the lower part of the abdomen flat. The upward pull should extend on up through the chest and the top of the head.

Incidentally, if you are stretched to your utmost height, there will be a slight tuck under the hips.

Make a point of swinging the legs from the hips—without wobbling and point the toes straight ahead.

The little habit of stretching up is very slimming for the waistline. But walking on the level doesn't do much for the hips. Try to include a hill in your walk so as to use the gluteal muscles and reduce the fat pads on the backs of the hips. An upgrade that raises the leg to a 45-degree angle with the trunk is the most slimming.

Oddly enough, walking is much more effective than the deep breathing routines for developing the chest. You only use oxygen on the demand of your muscles, and a brisk walk increases your need for oxygen and your ability to use it.

While you are about it, gauge your speed according to your weight. If you are an overweight, don't ambie! You can burn three times as many calories by walking fast—say, at the rate of five miles per hour. The unweights, of course, should take the time and walking should be a lesson in leisure.

Star Spends Hour Arranging Hair and Make-Up for Fight

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29.—"Destry Rides Again" . . . Marlene Dietrich spends one hour by the clock (I timed her) arranging curls and make-up for her big fight with Una Merkel. The set is crowded with visitors who want to see the hair-pulling contest.

They're off! Una slaps Marlene with Mischa Auer's pants (they're off, too—in Una's hands). Marlene gets a grip on Una's hair. Now they're down—now they're up. Now they're rolling on the floor at the feet of Jimmy Stewart, who will shortly separate them with a pailful of water (unfortunately, the latter is to be saved for tomorrow). "Cut," says Director George Marshall, and Una weaves groggily to a standing position. She has never before hit a woman in her life, and she is trembling and choking—choking because she has swallowed pounds of powder from Dietrich's hair. Marlene calmly saunters to her dressing table and rearranges her cooling! . . . In the nick of time comes a typhoon that saves them—or they think they are saved until a tidal wave, comprising 700 gallons per minute of Paramount water, almost washes them off the sound stage. And there you have the story of Typhoon. Exciting?

For this girl of the South Seas, Miss Lamour is wearing a new-style sarong—it has a V-neck and is very decollete. It gets pretty wet—what with one thing and another. But that isn't the worst of Dolly's troubles. She has to live in a tree-top with "Skippy," a ferocious-looking chimpanzee (he looks more like a gorilla to me).

Skippy, supposed to be a sort of mother to Miss Lamour, has already bitten her twice. Between takes, the terrified actress covers in her dressing room, shrieking, whenever the door is opened. "Keep that animal out of here!" But, for the camera, she has to kiss and cuddle the brute. You are earning your salary this time, Dorothy.

"Little Accident" . . . Hugh Herbert, Richard Carlson and Florence Rice are making horrible faces into the camera. The camera is supposed to be Baby Sandy and the trio is trying to make her smile. It's all pretty frightening and I retire to the far end of the set, where Miss Rice joins me. "In my last picture, a horse stole the picture (the Marx Brothers circus epic)—now it's a baby," grumbles Florence. She reminds me of our last talk, when she told me she believed in the engagement. "Remember," she says, "I said it took two years to know a man. I married Bob (Wilcox) six weeks after I met him—but it's working out fine."

Florence is ten pounds lighter and is trying to gain weight. "I don't know which is harder," she says, "to eat when you don't want to, or not to eat when you want to. It's harder not to eat when you want to. I know!"

FAITHFUL ACRE CITED.

An acre of land that has been planted in cotton for 39 years in succession is owned by E. Lee Hayes, in Newberry, S. C. Hayes said the land has never been planted, and he had never made a smaller yield of lint cotton than 420 pounds. He expects 1,000 pounds this year.

Comfortable Concealing Smock-Frock

By Barbara Bell.

Good-bye to all the old meadow-baggy wrap-arounds that mothers-to-be used to wear! The smart-looking, youthful, comfortable concealing smock-frock (1833-B) is the thing this season! The skirt is mounted on a bodice top, comfortably ample. The smock top flares out from pleats from a slanting shoulder line, and is finished with a notched collar and crisp tailored cuffs.

Half a dozen dresses like this won't be a bit too many . . . you'll wear this style the whole nine months, reveling in its comfort and becomingness. It makes up nicely in practically every fabric . . . flat crepe, challis, wool crepe, as well as round-the-house cottons.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1833-B is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. See 16 (34) requires 3 1/2 yards of 38" material for blouse and skirt, with short sleeves. 4 1/8 yards lining for foundation waist. Plus 2-3 yard contrast for collar and cuffs.

Special extra! Send today for your new fall pattern book with a stunning selection of a hundred perfect patterns for all shapes and sizes. Save money and know the keen satisfaction of personally planned, perfectly fitted garments by making your own frocks with these smart, carefully cut designs. Miss Jones Honors Miss Eloise Dickey.

Miss Florence Jones entertained a luncheon Friday at her home on Peachtree Battle Avenue in compliment to Miss Eloise Dickey, charming bride-elect. Pastel shaded flowers beautified the table and place cards were suggestive of weddings.

Invited to meet Miss Dickey were Mrs. Carol Payne Jones, Mrs. Beverly DuBoise Jr., Misses Betty Yopp, Jane Osburn, Elizabeth Groves and Helen Redding.

Miss Dickey's marriage to Winfield Jones takes place on October 14 at Cathedral of Christ the King.

For Miss Claire Gibson.

The Whiteford school faculty entertains today at luncheon at the Athletic Club honoring Miss Claire Gibson whose marriage to George Manners takes place October 14. Small bags of rice tied with tiny wedding bells will mark the places for guests. Flowers in shades of lavender and yellow and yellow mints in little flower mint cups will decorate the table. Covers will be placed for 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansley Honored at Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Foster were at a cocktail party yesterday afternoon at their home on Conway road in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Ansley, whose marriage was an event of the spring.

Mrs. Ansley is the former Miss Alice Owens, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Warren Owens, who assisted Mr. and Mrs. Foster in entertaining.

The table was overlaid with a Point de Venise lace cloth centered with an artistic arrangement of fall flowers.

Mu Delphian Chapter.

The Mu Delphian Chapter will be organized on Tuesday at 10 o'clock at the Biltmore hotel, and will be a unit of the Atlanta Delphian seminar and the Georgia Delphian assembly.

The meeting date will be the second and fourth Tuesday. This charter is a three-year period of training "Orientation for Modern Times." The state and seminar directors will be speakers. The organization will be conducted by Mrs. Myrtle Bannister, national supervisor.

Woodcrest Club.

Woodcrest Woman's Club held its recent meeting at clubhouse, with Mrs. C. L. Studdard, its president, presiding. Mrs. W. T. Mobley, club chaplain, led the devotional and salute to flag.

Mrs. W. W. Morris, citizenship chairman, read the creed, and then introduced the speaker, Mrs. R. L. Turman, whose address was instructive and helpful.

Mrs. J. A. Thomas reported on the fifth district club meeting held recently at East Point Woman's Club. Mrs. Dorothy Low played guitar selections.

Club Estates Club.

Members of Club Estates Garden Club were honored recently at a luncheon at which Mrs. George Griffin was hostess at her home, Ledmon Lodge.

The following were named on the nominating committee: Mrs. Louis Duggar, Mrs. Will Slater and Mrs. George Griffin Jr. Community Chest committee will be Mesdames Belsinger, W. H. Owens and Harold Hoefman.

Freshmen at N.A.P.S. Awarded 'Napsella,' the Silver Elephant

Yesterday the freshman class of the North Avenue Presbyterian school high school was awarded "Napsella," the silver elephant given annually to the freshman or sophomore class giving the best skit on stunt day in assembly.

The decision for the winner was made by the judges, members of the class of '35, including Misses Betty Brown, Alma Wilby, Hilda McDonald, Marjorie Jameson and Carolyn Malone. The title of the stunts, as decided by the faculty, was "Recess at N. A. P. S."

The freshman president, Miss

Marion Hodges, received "Napsella" from Miss Norma Hixon, the new student body president. The freshman skit portrayed a "quiet" recess with collisions of students, new "litterbug" steps, amateur cheer leading, and "ah, you know who" talk.

The sophomore stunt depicted another "dull" recess at N. A. P. S., with a rooster pulling in the curb full of boy visitors to N. A. P. S. students.

This annual contest of wits takes the place of the usual contest of strength between the two classes.

TARZAN—By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"MY BODYGUARD" COUNTESS MARIKA SMILED. "THE FIERCEST FIGHTERS OF MY FATHER'S REALM, THEY ARE AT YOUR SERVICE."

"WHY DO YOU DO THIS FOR ME?" TARZAN ASKED. MARIKA SMILED MYSTERIOUSLY. "PERHAPS YOU WILL REPAY ME!"

TARZAN TURNED TO CAPTAIN MCGREGOR. "WITH THESE MEN WE CAN WIPE OUT THE PIRATES. THEN YOU CAN PUT ME ASHORE."

No. 24 He Must Stay!

MARIKA'S HEART FLUTTERED IN PANIC. SHE MUST KEEP TARZAN WITH HER AND SHE THOUGHT OF A RISKY SCHEME!
